

I think we have better things to do than worry about what satellite radio is doing. This should be a no-brainer.